SAN FRANCISCO BAY AREA TECHNICIANS TRAINING LOCATOR REQUEST FORM

The Bureau of Automotive Repair (BAR) is providing a training locator service for qualified technicians in the San Francisco Bay Area that need to upgrade from an EB to an EA license. To use the training locator service, you must meet all the following qualifications:

- You are a currently licensed EB technician in the San Francisco Bay Area.
- You are not currently enrolled in or have registered to take an Advanced Clean Air Car Course or the 8-hour 2003 Update Class.
- You have contacted at least four Bay Area BAR-certified training schools between February 20, 2003, and May 10, 2003, and were told:
- The schools do not offer the Advanced Clean Air Car Course or the 8-hour 2003 Update Class; or,
- All Advanced Clean Air Car Courses or the 8-hour 2003 Update Classes at the schools are full through August 1, 2003.

If all the above conditions are met, BAR will try to assist you in locating the Advanced Clean Air Car Course or the 8-hour 2003 Update Class so that you can upgrade from an EB to an EA license. BAR will not pay for the classes; you must pay for classes you need. Once BAR receives this form, we will contact you with class schedules and locations. Although BAR will try to find the appropriate classes in the location you selected, some travel may be required. Once BAR provides you with the information, it is your responsibility to enroll in the classes and make the necessary arrangements to attend the classes. You must then pass the Advanced licensing exam to receive an EA license.

If you qualify for the BAR training locator service and want to use it, complete this request form and fax or mail it to:
